STRIKE: Central Line staff are set to take industrial action over the weekend before Christmas

by Lewis Berrill

waltham@yellowad.co.uk

CENTRAL Line staff are set to go on strike on the weekend before Christmas in a dispute over industrial relations.

Members of the Rail, Maritime and Transport (RMT) union on the Central Line will walk out for six hours from 8pm on December 21 and for 16 hours from 4am on December 22.

The action follows a one-day walkout earlier this month which crippled services.

The union accused LU of "refusing to lift a finger" to resolve a series of issues, claiming not enough drivers are employed, procedures are being abused and a union member has been victimised.

General secretary Mick Cash said: "Our members have shown just how angry they are at the abject failure of management to sort out long-standing problems along the line in the rock-solid action earlier this month and LU have now had plenty of time to resolve the issues but have chosen to bury their heads in the sand."

"Industrial relations along the Central Line have been at breaking point for some time now and the failure of the management to face facts, and a conscious decision to up the ante by attempting to single out and pick off individual members of staff, has tipped the situation over the edge and has led to the announcement of further strike action.

"There is a growing culture on London Underground that revolves around refusing to employ enough drivers, bullying staff and expecting our members to pick up the pieces when the service breaks down."

"Tube bosses are well aware of the level of anger on the job and it's down to them to take the situation seriously and engage in genuine talks around reaching a solution to the current disputes."

Nick Dent, director of line operations for London Underground, said: "The further strike action called by RMT remains totally unjustified."

"They are demanding the reinstatement of a driver who was sacked for failing a drugs test, something for which we have zero tolerance."

"We always strive to run a reliable service but our commitment to the safety of both customers and staff is absolute and something we will never compromise on."

"I urge the unions to call off this entirely unnecessary strike action which will only cause disruption to our customers during the festive period."

Quartet guilty of substance attack on two men

FOUR people have been found guilty of a violent attack in which one victim had noxious substance poured down his throat.

Makayla Hajaig, 19, of Barley Lane, Chadwell Heath, Adam Badejo, 30, of Keppel Road, Dagenham, and William Deo, 20, of no fixed address, were found guilty of grievous bodily harm with intent and actual bodily harm following a two-week trial at Snaresbrook Crown Court.

A 30-year-old man, who can't be named for legal reasons, was also found guilty of grievous bodily harm with intent and actual bodily harm.

On Wednesday, June 13, two male victims, both aged 21 at the time, were lured to an address in Ilford.

The court heard a substance – believed to be ammonia – was thrown at both men as revenge for a video posted online.

One of the victims also had the noxious liquid forcibly poured down his throat, leaving him with serious internal injuries.

Sgt Matt Taylor, from the Met's East Area Command Unit, said: "This was a sickening attack which left both young victims with serious injuries."

All four were remanded in custody until sentencing on Monday, December 17.

Businessman finds niche in film finance

by Lewis Berrill

waltham@yellowad.co.uk

BORN in Hackney and raised in Walthamstow, Jeff, 46, is a true east Londoner.

Growing up, like most lads his age, he was obsessed with football; unlike most, he studied hairdressing at Waltham Forest College in 1988.

He left college at 18, envious at the money his pals were making working as builders or mechanics.

Jeff bounced around various property businesses throughout his younger years before setting up his own in 2001.

He sold the company in 2005 and went to Spain to work for a firm raising money for film studios, his first foray into the film industry.

"The company was more interested in making films they wanted to make and not films that were commercially viable and that would provide returns for investors," Jeff explained.

"With the various tax breaks for UK taxpayers and following a formula, I believed I could offer a bespoke product to film investors."

Undaunted, he wanted a company more fitting of his own vision and Warrior Film Promotions (WFP) was born in 2015. Jeff, who felt at home running a business now, said: "Having set up various property companies over the years, being in business was not daunting. However, entering the diffi-

The acclaimed British film, The Bromley Boys, released in May 2018, was the first project WFP raised all the finance on.

"Working with TJ Herbert (the producer) and the whole team was a pleasure. I learnt loads working on this project," Jeff said. "Film is complex and takes time to get right. A scene that takes five seconds on the screen can take hours to get right. It also proved that you do not need a Hollywood budget in order to make a quality film with a high production look and feel."

The company is working on a six-part TV documentary series called Patient: Hurricane V7497. Narrated by Sir Ranulph Fiennes it follows one of the UK's top neurosurgeons in his day-to-day work entwined with his other passion, restoring a Mk1 Hawker Hurricane shot down in 1940.

Britain's Got Talent 2018 finalists, the D-Day Darlings, will work on the soundtrack as well as pop singer Yazz, who had a Number One hit single in 1988 with The Only Way Is Up.

Jeff has a message for young east Londoners striving for success: "It does not matter where you come from or what you have. Focus on and visualise your dreams, make them a reality."

"I am proof that anything is possible. If life serves you lemons, don't get bitter, make lemonade."

Cash tackles youth crime

TWO east London local authorities have secured thousands of pounds of government cash to tackle youth violence and exploitation.

Redbridge Council and Barking and Dagenham Council have secured the Home Office funding for an 18-month initiative called Your Voice – Your Future.

The initiative will work with vulnerable primary and secondary pupils at risk of becoming involved or coerced into violence or crime, or at risk of exploitation.

Councillor Margaret Mullane, Barking and Dagenham cabinet member for enforcement and community safety, said: "We're delighted the government has recognised and chosen to put in some money for this vital programme to help support vulnerable young people."

"By working with our partners and sharing knowledge and skills, we can begin to get to the root causes of issues rather than deal with problems in later life."

Figures released by the Office for National Statistics earlier this year revealed total recorded crime in Barking and Dagenham rose six per cent from the year ending March 2017 to the year ending March 2018.

During the same period reported crime rose 15 per cent in Redbridge; possession of weapon offences rose 27 per cent, from 125 to 159.

The councils are two of 10 London boroughs and to secure funding from the Home Office's Early Intervention Youth Fund – a £17.7m initiative announced in April.

Man charged with attempted murder of a police officer

A 24-YEAR-OLD man has appeared in court charged with the attempted murder of a police officer.

Daniel Adeyemi, 24, of Bedford Road, Ilford, also faces allegations of possession of a bladed article and common assault against another police officer.

The charges are in connection with an incident outside Ilford railway station on Friday, November 23.

Adeyemi appeared before magistrates on Monday, November 26 and was remanded to reappear at the Old Bailey on December 17.

A British Transport Police officer suffered stab injuries outside the station in Cranbrook Road.

He was taken to hospital for treatment, but his injuries were not life-threatening.

The chairman of BTP Federation expressed his shock after the officer was injured.

Nigel Goodband said: "I wouldn't like to imagine what could have happened if those colleagues weren't in close proximity."

The federation is the staff association for constables, sergeants, inspectors and chief inspectors in the BTP.

Mr Goodband added: "It's shocking – knife crime and the wider epidemic of attacking police officers is a real concern to us all. We're witnessing this too often."

Detective Inspector Darren Gough who is leading the investigation, said: "I am pleased to say that our injured colleague was discharged from hospital on Saturday morning and is now recovering at home."

"Our investigation into the circumstances leading to this stabbing continues at pace and I am grateful for everyone who has contacted us with information."

"However, I would still urge anyone who saw what happened, and hasn't already contacted us, to get in touch."

"If you were near Ilford station at the time of the assault, please contact us as soon as possible. Likewise, if anyone has any video footage of what happened, we would like to hear from you."

"Since Friday night, the force has received a huge number of kind and caring messages from members of the public and from the extended policing family."

"On behalf of the force, I would like to thank you for those messages; your kindness towards one of our injured colleagues is overwhelming."

Anyone with information should contact BTP by sending a text to 61016 or by calling 0800 40 50 40, quoting reference 659 of 23/11/2018.

Knifemen strike twice in same road and stab victims in back

POLICE are appealing for witnesses following two assaults on the same Barking road in which the victims were stabbed in the back.

On Thursday, November 15, a man was stabbed in Longbridge Road.

He was approached by a 6ft male at about 8.30pm.

The suspect, who is described as wearing a brown hooded top, sporty trousers and trainers, stepped out directly in front of the victim before stabbing him in the back and running away.

Police were called after the victim presented himself at a nearby hospital.

On Wednesday, November 21, a 47-year-old man was walking down the same road at about 9.45pm when a man approached him and stabbed him in the back before fleeing the scene.

He was taken to a nearby hospital where he required surgery.

The suspect was described as a black male, slim, 5ft 3in, and was wearing a grey hooded top, dark trousers and grey trainers.

Officers are considering the possibility that the two incidents are linked.

Police are appealing for anyone who saw either of the assaults or has any further information to contact them on 101 with CAD number 7669/21NOV18 or 020 8345 4329.

Adults and children flee shop blaze

MORE than 70 firefighters were called to a shop fire in Walthamstow.

Fire crews were sent to Hello Mobile in High Street at 5.02am on Tuesday, November 27.

The ground floor of the mobile phone shop – with flats above – was alight when they arrived.

Three adults and four children left the building before the brigade arrived.

Two of the women who escaped were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation and taken to an east London hospital.

The fire was reported under control at 7.52am.

Firefighters remained at the scene throughout the day. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

An opportunity has arisen to join our successful sales team in our Basildon office.

We are looking for really exceptional individuals who can become part of our commercial division.

The successful candidates will have many responsibilities in this varied sales role, giving priority to developing new business by cold calling and building relationships with prospective clients.

To be successful in our business you need to have a flexible approach to work and be prepared to dig in and roll up your sleeves when the going gets a little bit tough!

A proven sales background is preferred but we are looking for highly motivated individuals who are keen to learn and keen to earn.

A good command of the English language and good writing skills are most definitely a prerequisite, as are good listening skills.

A full clean driving licence will be required.

Benefits: Basic Salary plus tiered bonus structure. 5 weeks holiday per annum. Pension Scheme (after qualifying period). On-going training.

If this sounds like the opportunity for you please apply with a covering letter and CV to:
